

COLLIER CONSTRUCTION TO PROVIDE FUNDING AND TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE FOR THE LEED*
CERTIFICATION OF THE SOUTHSIDE HABITAT HOUSE

Collier Construction is committed to serving Chattanooga's communities through volunteerism, sponsorships and donations of funds, materials and labor for a variety of needs. A Holiday Event Benefiting the Southside Habitat House & Habitat for Humanity of Chattanooga presents an important opportunity for Collier to reaffirm its commitment to the Southside community as well as contribute to the Dallar family's sustained quality of life.

Ethan Collier, president and CEO of Collier Construction, is providing technical assistance for the LEED Certification of The Southside Habitat House. And throughout construction of the home, Collier Construction carpenters will be on site to educate and assist Habitat for Humanity's volunteers and workers regarding LEED for Homes building procedures and methods.

In addition, Collier will pay for the LEED Certification of the home. Collier believes that simply calling a home green or building it to LEED standards is not enough. To guarantee that the Southside Habitat House is built to the highest standards in energy efficiency, it will receive third party verification through the LEED Certification process.

LEED Certification provides an important opportunity to invest in sustainable homes, and Collier Construction is grateful for the chance to invest in The Southside Habitat House. Collier believes that green construction is a socially responsible, economical and environmentally healthy way to build lasting homes and stronger communities.
